COUNTY LAUNCHES COVID-19 COMMUNITY IMPACT SURVEY

On March 15, Clear Creek County launched a COVID-19 Community Impact Survey (CCIS) to better understand community needs. The County is seeking ways to help people through the COVID-19 crisis and beyond. Even if you haven't been sick, your answers to the survey will help shape the future of the county and better inform how to allocate resources and support.

"This survey is aimed at collecting data to understand and identify the social, economic, and health needs and inequities resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic," explains County Recovery Coordinator Alyssa Dinberg, "Please complete and return the survey as soon as you can."

County residents aged 14 and older can make their voice heard by taking the CCIS in one of three ways:

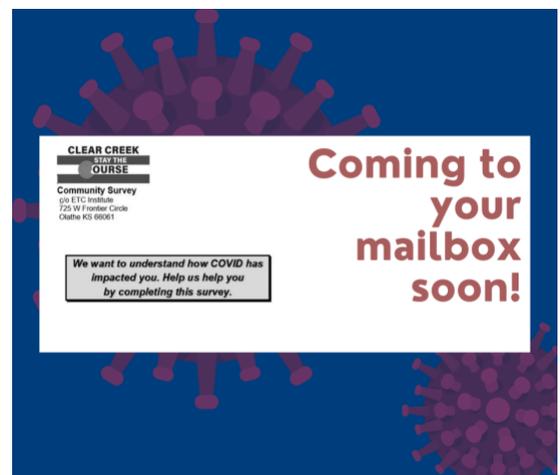

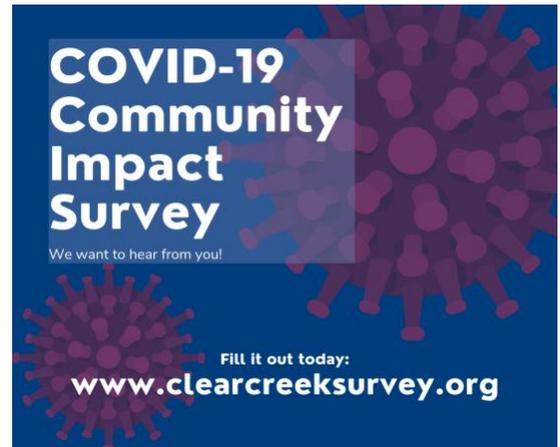

1. Via mail (watch for the survey in your mailbox)
2. Online using this link: www.clearcreeksurvey.org
3. By calling the hotline at 888-801-5368

Sharing your experiences and challenges will give county leaders information to best support those most impacted by the pandemic and could assist in finding new solutions to community problems.

Dinberg adds, "The survey should take about five minutes and your answers will remain anonymous. We are committed to presenting the survey information in ways that will help us all take collective action." Depending on response rates, the survey is expected to close on April 15.

Additional survey information can be found at <http://bit.ly/COVID19CommunitySurvey>. For more about county-wide COVID-19 recovery efforts, contact Alyssa Dinberg at 970-389-4269 or adinberg@clearcreekcounty.us.
