

DEROGATORY TERMS, AMERICAN MAPS

RENAMING "SQUAW" MOUNTAIN IN COLORADO TO HONOR NATIVE WOMEN PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

PANEL DISCUSSION
& ACTION PLANNING
MAY 26TH

Register at: www.bit.ly/rename-s-mountain

S*" is a derogatory term used to denigrate and perpetuate violence against Indigenous women. This violent term has also been used by settler colonialists to rename many sacred places and landmarks in communities across Turtle Island.

Join the Mestaa'êhehe Coalition for an upcoming webinar to learn about renaming S* Mountain in Clear Creek County, Colorado, historical and present-day violence against Native women, and the movement to reclaim their power, culture, and honor relatives lost to violence.

During this webinar, you will also learn about the history and story behind the proposed new name of S* Mountain, Mestaa'êhehe Mountain.

Register here: bit.ly/rename-s-mountain

Speakers:

Roe Bubar, J.D.
Colorado State University
Interim Vice President of Diversity
Professor in Ethnic Studies

Sabrina Norris
Domestic Violence Coordinator,
Southern Hinono'eiteen and Tsétséhestâhese Tribes
Southern Tsétséhestâhese and Hinono'ei

Max Bear
Southern Hinono'eiteen and Tsétséhestâhese Tribes
Tribal Historic Preservation Officer
Southern Tsétséhestâhese,
Mestaa'êhehe Descendent

Lyla June Johnston
Artist and Organizer
Diné/Tsétséhestâhese