

Site 7: View of the Georgetown Loop and Silver Plume

From this vantage point, looking west, you can see the town of Silver Plume, the cemetery hill, and the Colorado & Southern Railway – commonly known as “The Georgetown Loop.” The view hasn’t changed much since Edna Rydlund took this photo in the late 1920s, other than the intrusion of Interstate 70.

Photo courtesy: Edna Rydlund Collection