

Site 10: The Climb to Waldorf

From here, the Argentine-Central Railroad Grade (known today as the Leavenworth Creek Road) continues approximately 5 miles up toward the townsite of Waldorf, located above timberline at an elevation of 11,666 feet.

*Members of the Mabee-Tibbetts Company pose for a photo at Waldorf on June 16, 1910 before ascending Mt. McClellan.
Photo courtesy: Denver Public Library, Z-839*